Yellowdig

Yellowdig, a social learning platform designed specifically for higher ed, creates a rich digital environment for schools like Arizona State University & Boston University. Whether on campus, online, or hybrid, Yellowdig maintains the magic of the classroom through gamification & a familiar social feel, our partners are seeing a 2x increase in engagement while decreasing course drops by 8%.

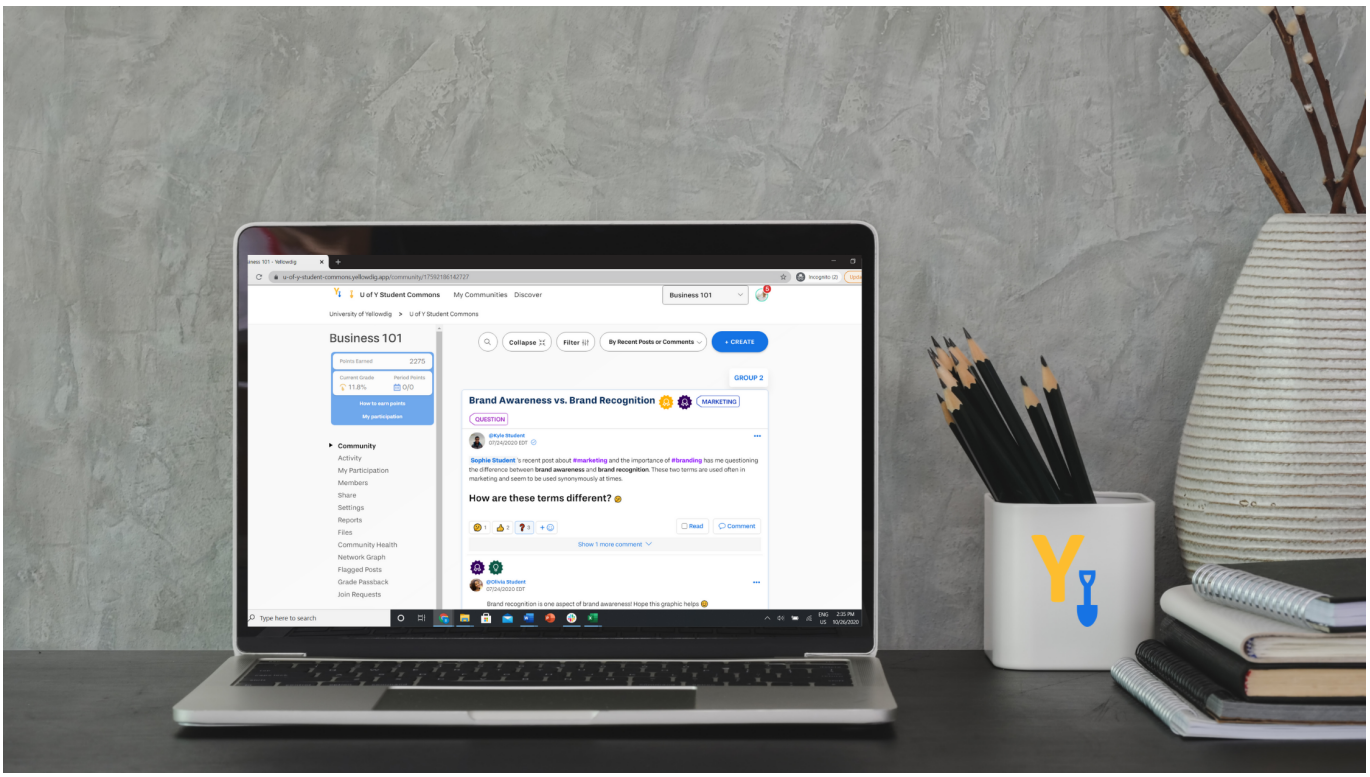
In Yellowdig's learning communities, students participate in conversations about course content and get their questions answered collaboratively and quickly, without relying entirely on you and your instructional team. These experiences empower students to learn more through supportive environments that foster engagement. Our goal is not only to facilitate engagement, but to support behavioral change leading to more authentic and meaningful engagements.

As we've been hearing, budget challenges are a potential obstacle to reviewing and adopting new solutions. This is why we started offering our platform at no-cost to those who are interested in experiencing the benefits of a real community for you and your students. Instructors can test Yellowdig with up to 200 users at no cost for the length of the upcoming academic term. Instructor training/onboarding provided, no integration required (although possible), and custom data reports available with no financial commitment from your institution.

CHECKLIST FOR STARTING A YELLOWDIG PILOT

- Go through a quick, informative faculty certification program
- Fill out a pilot registration form
- Partner with our Client Success team & gain network access*
- Get started with an amazing community on day 1 of class!

*We are able to integrate with your LMS, but it is not required if you would prefer a more speedy process you can access your network through a web browser.



Be sure to register your interest in a pilot here to get the process started.

I'M INTERESTED!