

We help new managers become leaders worth following.

Lead Belay's Emerging Leader Ascent is a transformative peer-based leadership development experience that's entirely remote and entirely affordable.

Not your standard corporate training.

Price

The Emerging Leader Ascent has been compared to some of today's top executive coaching programs, which typically start at 3-5 times the cost.

Professional coaching

An experienced, dedicated coach guides each group, leading discussions, meaningful conversations, & experiential learning activities.

Peer-based learning

We strategically match participants with a small group of high-performing peers. Group members support one another throughout the experience.

Outcomes

People who finish the program bring a new level of confidence, efficiency, preparedness, skill, and excitement to their organizations and teams.

Do you want to provide more support to your employees?

The Emerging Leader Ascent is an enjoyable and impactful way to nurture and support your emerging managers as they grow as people leaders.

This program will empower them to be successful while helping them feel valued.

Our program helps new and emerging millennial managers understand, process, and practice:

- Building cohesive and inclusive teams
- Holding others accountable
- Giving their direct reports honest, helpful feedback
- Developing members of their team
- Aligning their teams' goals with the broader objectives of the department/organization
- Communicating in a clear, direct, and effective way

What participants ("Belayers") are saying

"It was a transformational experience for me... You were able to pull people together from different parts of the world and get them to open up and share what they're facing. It was very powerful." – Steve G.

"It was hands down the best leadership development program I've been through in my career. It's the first one that I walked away with useful things that I can actually use in my day to day." – Tamar G.

"You get to know people quite quickly and have this intimate space of trust." – Natalie F.

"I think it's fantastic to have an opportunity to connect with like-minded people, but with different backgrounds. I didn't have to sugar-coat things. People saw me really be myself." – Sonny W.

"It's a great program...I walked away with a lot of tools that really help." – Kenny A.

Your emerging managers want more help.
Now you can give it to them.
