

SUCCESS STORY:

Finding an Application/Solutions Architect a new role

We take pride in ensuring our consultants have an efficient and effective hiring process. So, when Application/Solutions Architect, Jay S., was looking for a new project during the COVID-19 pandemic, he naturally turned to Synergis. He had worked with Synergis IT and Sr. Technical Recruiter, Christy Cifreo, previously so he knew that our people-first strategy worked for him.

The situation

In 2020, Jay was looking for a new Application/Solutions Architect role. "Having worked with Synergis on a contract opportunity in the past, it was obviously my first choice," said Jay.

We strive to make sure every one of our consultants has a sense of ease when looking for their next role. "Being a visa holder, [Synergis] was able to seek the necessary approvals with success and I was able to join without any hiccups. The only thing I knew was the job, job interview and joining details. Everything else that sounded daunting to a prospective job seeker was handled by team Synergis," said Jay.

The Solution

We are industry experts. Through our skill-set based recruiting, we can fully understand the job market and help our consultants find a role that fits them best. We believe in building long-term relationships with our candidates from the start. We partner with you from the very first conversation through the final stages of the interview, so you always have the support you need.

"I would strongly recommend Synergis as your Technology Partner in seeking new jobs and experience turnkey job opportunities. The company leverages technology that helps them identify the right candidates for any job. They are proactive and if you have the right skills, they offer you everything to keep you smiling."

-Jay S., Consultant

The Result

Within a week, we were able to find a role well-suited for Jay. "Synergis proactively followed up with me on a contract opportunity they had with one of their prestigious clients. In a week's time they were able to set up an interview. I was selected and offered the job. But due to the global pandemic, the client had a temporary freeze on the position. Team Synergis was constantly in touch with the client and me," said Jay. And after the freeze was lifted, he was able to start without any problems.
