

nLighten

The world's leading Autonomous SIEM
and MDR Solution

The Challenge

Security teams are often under-resourced and overwhelmed with having to detect, manage, and remediate every potential threat.

Even with dozens of security products, you deal with too many false positives, restrictive storage requirements that limit visibility and scale, and too much manual effort that leaves gaps in your security posture.

The Solution

Identify and remediate threats before they become a breach and dramatically simplify and enhance your security operations with nLighten, the world's only autonomous SIEM and MDR solution nLighten will help you:

Find Threats That Others Miss

Cybraics specializes in finding what other products miss. nLighten's unique combination of machine learning and AI-based analytics and proprietary behavior tracing identifies the most sophisticated threats so you can stop them before they become a breach. nLighten requires no baseline or continual tuning to correlate and prioritize threats across your entire enterprise.

Automate Cases to Eliminate Alert Fatigue

Free yourself from never-ending log and alert collection, false positives and manual research. nLighten aggregates and prioritizes malicious activities, reduces false positives by 95%, reduces MTTD and MTTR from months to minutes, and automates 96% of actionable case creation. Our analytics engines have analyzed billions of records and continually improve to precisely identify legitimate threats.

Increase Operational Efficiencies

No matter what size of team you have, nLighten will help you more efficiently manage your security. We are the catalyst that unlocks the potential in your security stack.

With over 250 behavioral analytics and 80+ integrations with leading security tools, we dramatically reduce the amount of typical SIEM alerts by 97% and deliver the only comprehensive autonomous SIEM, MDR, compliance, and log management solution.

And you'll love our simple, intuitive executive dashboard with streaming analytics to provide greater visibility, situational awareness, and real-time analysis so you can resolve threats quickly

While we had a slew of what we thought were sophisticated tools in place, none were able to properly identify the botnet that was quietly infiltrating our environment.

With nLighten, we were able to save ourselves from what could have been a detrimental attack and major news headline.
