We're Committed to a World in Which Every Student Can Access the Support They Need to Reach Their Full Potential – Academically, Socially & Emotionally.

At The Mentor Academy, we know peer mentorship programs based on expertise and equity go a long way in making this dream a reality. Following this, we wish to equip mentors with the skills and training required to model effective leadership and foster mutually-beneficial relationships with those less experienced than themselves.

Why We Created The Mentor Academy?

The Mentor Academy is the not-for-profit brainchild from the founders of the EdTech startup Vygo. By providing free online training to aspiring student mentors, The Mentor Academy hopes to boost their confidence, build their resilience and hone their communication and conflict management skills – helping people overcome intercultural barriers and evolve into impactful guides, active listeners and indelible support systems.

By providing this training for free to education institutions we hope to inspire and enable educators to empower more of their students to participate in their support ecosystem.

In our rapidly changing world, access to equitable learning and developmental opportunities have been more critical. By investing $100k into The Mentor Academy project over the next three years and working closely with a team of learned academics, our goal is to empower 100,000 future change-makers to go out and empower 100,000 more.
