

The Situation

Sean G.*, a consultant and father of a fifth-grade daughter struggling with homework completion, has disengaged from his work. His daughter's grades slip as anxiety and frustration mount, causing both father and daughter to shut down, a lose-lose proposition.

Sean is overwhelmed and sometimes feels like he is failing his daughter. He needs guidance and tools to help her complete assignments on time in order to reduce his own anxiety and allow him to refocus on his job.

Employee's Need

- ❗ Identifying what is causing his daughter to feel overwhelmed by homework so that he can get her the tools she needs.
- ❗ Turning "Homework Hell" into a positive and productive use of time and reducing the enormous stress it is causing the family.
- ❗ Better understanding how to teach his daughter to manage her time and school demands.

*Name changed to protect the identity of the subject profiled

Torchlight Personal Process Workflow™ in Action

Torchlight Recommended Resources

-  Webinar
 - Homework Madness
 - When School Is Hard

-  Podcast
 - Why Anxiety Is a Growing Problem for Our Kids

-  eGuide
 - Effective Homework Strategies
 - Selecting a Tutor

-  Tool
 - Issues Identification Chart

Testimonial

“Excellent resource, a great support to working parents and families, very helpful information and services.”

~ Sean G., Consultant

Outcomes

- ✓ Productivity Increase
- ✓ Stress Reduction
- ✓ Time Savings

To learn more about Torchlight, please contact us at caring@torchlight.care or www.torchlight.care

