

The Situation

Morgan H.*, a financial services executive, has a mother who needs increasing assistance at home, or she will need to move into a long-term care facility despite her strenuous objections.

Morgan is a key leader in the company with a lot of responsibility. However, pressure has mounted, and he has missed critical deadlines, in order to meet with siblings and doctors to determine the best care plan for his mother before she gets hurt.

Employee's Need

- ! Charting first steps to assess his Mom's situation and gather options for her safely "aging in place" (at home).
- ! Developing a care plan and support system agreeable to all family members involved in her caregiving.
- ! Researching options for, and managing the process of, hiring in-home care professionals.
