Mark J. Schafer

Chief Information Security Officer

Mark is the Chief Information Security Officer for SVA Consulting, a member of the SVA family of companies.

Mark is a recognized consultant and leader in security program design and build, ensuring the security strategies he deploys are in alignment with his client's business objectives. He is also experienced in risk assessment and management, compliance and security awareness training. Mark's clients have been from a diverse group of organizations including healthcare, government agencies, manufacturing and nonprofit organizations.

Prior to joining SVA Consulting, Mark led enterprise security at WPS Health Solutions, a nationally regarded government contractor and leader in the insurance industry serving millions of Americans at home and abroad.

Mark is involved in the community in which he and his family reside. He has been on the board of directors for the community's annual festival and has participated in a variety of volunteer opportunities.
