

Get Your Real Estate License Online with Livestream

Want an education without the commute?

With our livestream course option, you can complete your pre-licensing courses from the comfort of your home or office.

Here's what you can expect with our livestream courses.

Quality instruction

Our instructors' love for real estate is palpable. With years (and often decades) of experience working in the real estate industry, not only do our instructors know what it takes to pass the real estate exam, but they are full of invaluable advice and tips for how to achieve sustainable, long-term success in real estate once you've received your license.

"If you are looking for the gold standard in real estate education, you got it. Real Estate Express has top notch service, teachers and education! I will be back for more!"

— Colin E., livestream student

Exam Preparedness

The secret to passing your real estate exam is not having the most knowledge; it's having the right knowledge on test day. And with our livestream courses, you can count on being prepared to pass the real estate exam on the first try, or it's on us. That's right. We're so confident you'll pass your exam on the first try, we'll refund your purchase, no questions asked.

"Not only did Real Estate Express prepare me for my exams, I was able to make connections with my instructor and classmates in order to ensure success for my future in real estate."

— Kelly M., livestream student

Increased accountability

Just like going to the gym helps you stay committed to your health goals, going to a live virtual class helps you commit to your goal of getting your license. Our livestream instructors are like your own physical trainer, giving you feedback and answers to your questions in real-time. Plus, you'll have the extra motivation of going to class with students just like you, all from the comfort of your home.

"The accountability of setting aside the time three days a week for the course—with access to an instructor and team for questions—is invaluable."

— Keely C., livestream student
