

The State of Personal Cybersecurity and Privacy: 2020

BlackCloak Research on the State of High-Net-Worth, High-Profile Individuals and Corporate Executives in their Personal Lives

In 2020, the risk of cybercrime is greater than ever. When new clients join BlackCloak, we scan and assess their networks, devices, and security practices. The results are often shocking. Many individuals are surprised to discover that their homes and devices had previously been compromised. We solve the problem – but in the process, we have uncovered revealing data about the current state of personal cybersecurity and privacy.
