

Customer Service Chatbots for Software & Apps

Let your service be as advanced and smart as your product. Customer expectations are ever growing and technology is available to help you meet them. Take control of your service experience by putting automation first and empowering your customers with self-service. A chatbot lets you apply the same high standards of your product to your service and meet the demands of your customers instantly.

Be at the pulse of time in every business area.

Can you match your customers' service expectations in today's instant economy? Provide a consistent, unified service experience across all channels with automation. True instant communication and first contact resolution has never been easier

Focus on scaling your business instead of on repetitive requests.

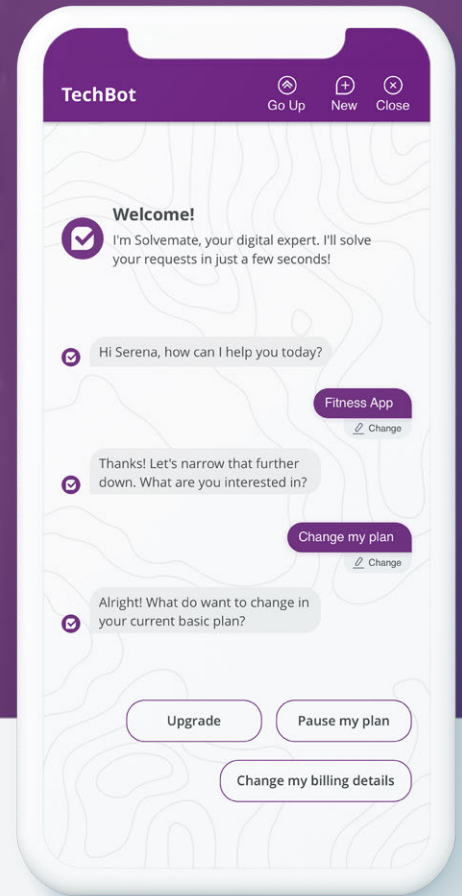

Are you struggling to keep your service levels high while growing? Automating your customer service provides that first line of defense of common questions that can be easily addressed and gives you the freedom to further build your business and develop your product. Expand everything at the same pace without having to compromise.

JustPark

"Solvemate is just the partner we were looking for. Setting up Solvemate with our CRM system proved to be as straightforward as it gets and our customers love using it."

Mike Miner
Head of Customer Support
JustPark

Read case study

Create a service experience that your end-users love.

Do you want to deliver great UX beyond your product? Our chatbot is a state-of-the-art platform that elevates the quality of your service to match your product. Don't compromise.

How Solvemate helps the technology sector

On average our customer's results:

Self-service rate

CSAT

5237

Solutions proposed monthly

Leading brands rely on Solvemate:

JustPark

eGYM

secova

HOLVI

Our trusted partners:

zendesk

freshworks

Solvemate enables brands to deliver quality customer service through meaningful conversations. Our automation platform, powered by smart conversational AI, allows companies to deliver quality customer service, faster.

Learn more at www.solvemate.com