

Providing innovative solutions to help water professionals do more with less

120Water is on a mission to protect public health by supporting utilities, government agencies and schools across the country in managing critical compliance, drinking water and wastewater programs.

The 120Water Solution

Modern solutions are imperative to tackling industry challenges. From new regulations to aging infrastructure and increased public communication, 120Water's team of experts can help. Our solutions are built on three foundational elements: secure, cloud-based software, program services and point of use kits. This three-pronged approach provides utilities support where they need it most, easing logistical and operational burdens and improving consumer transparency.

120Water has run over 7,000 events/programs in 28 states.

Public Health Programs

Pitcher/Filter

120Water can support utilities in pitcher/filter remediation efforts by managing inventory ordering and fulfillment (using our vendor or yours) and giving internal teams vital insights to answer customer questions.

Emerging Contaminants

Our team of industry and policy professionals can provide critical expertise in legislation and monitoring of emerging contaminants, while our software and kits allows systems to test fixtures and house monitoring data in one place.

Consumer Request

120Water can simplify your consumer request program, providing logistical and operational support through digital request forms, automated test kit fulfillment and triggered communication.

State-Wide Water Quality Testing

120Water can support a variety of state-wide water quality programs such as lead in school and wastewater monitoring programs by streamlining the process of collecting samples, incorporating our sample kits and national network of labs to ease logistical burdens, and centralizing the data in our secure platform.

Wastewater

Prioritizing community safety, 120Water assists wastewater programs through testing kits, a national network of labs, a professional services team to support program success and a central dashboard for local stakeholders to view critical public health data.
