

BlackLine

Almost all of our marine products made in black

The black cherry on top

You should never have to compromise on beauty! Marine applications should not only provide the best function, they should also fit the design of your boat. Preferably even enhance it. Thus, a large part of our products are also available in black.

Swedishly sober and classy

Looks are important. And a boat should not have to lose its stylish appearance because of mismatching equipment. Our BlackLine is developed to match the continuously growing demand for modern and luxurious boat design.

Long lasting color

Reliable capacity and color. Marine environments are tough, probably the toughest. All of our products have been put through various tests in harsh conditions to ensure the highest quality. For this series, the color has been put under the microscope as well.

With more than 40 years of experience, we are a leading producer and manufacturer of products for the marine industry. Over the years, the reputation of our reliable and innovative products has caught on, and today we provide products to various large manufacturers. A large part of our marine products are now available in matte black.

High-end marine equipment for modern boats

Since 1976 we've been designing and manufacturing equipment to the marine industry and vehicle manufacturers around the world. Products that may not be obvious at first, but truly make all the difference.

We believe in sustainability, in creating solid products that do not let our customers down. Our products hold the highest quality, which shows in both the materials and the design. They feature smart solutions and are constantly put through further improvement and rigorous testing. Cause even though we're into our fifth decade, we continue to be as inquisitive and passionate about development as ever.

Apart from providing products, we gladly lend you a hand when it comes to everything from design to construction and service. We love challenges, are willing to take on even the most demanding of projects and gladly help you find your perfect match. We're a one stop shop.
