WEIGHING THE PROS AND CONS OF THIRD-PARTY DELIVERY

With Statista forecasting online delivery revenues of more than $32 million by 2024¹ and the pandemic causing dine-in closures or capacity restrictions, offering delivery is a no-brainer for most restaurants. However, operators must determine whether they have the infrastructure (and will) to handle the logistics of delivery themselves or whether they'll rely on third-party services such as Grubhub, DoorDash and Postmates.

Is third-party delivery right for your operation?

PROS

BOOST REVENUE

Third-party delivery service has been found to help restaurants increase monthly takeout revenue by an average of

INCREASED OPERATIONAL EXPENSES

The cost of doing business with third-party delivery services ranges from 15% to 30% per order. Added costs can result in a loss for restaurants, which typically operate at 2% to 7% margins.⁴

CONS

LOSS OF CONTROL

35% of customers⁵ who use third-party delivery services experience a problem —such as longer-than-expected waits, cold food, or the wrong order.

79% blame the restaurant for these problems.

REDUCE INFRA-STRUCTURE COSTS

Restaurants get access to the delivery platform's:

Solution Fleet of Drivers

- Order Tracking
- Secure Payment Systems

CUSTOMER DATA

ACCESS NEW

CUSTOMERS

Restaurants gain exposure and earn business from the platform's loyal users. In April alone:

Third-party delivery orders increased 204% year-over-year

Restaurant app/website orders increased 72%³

PRIORITIZE FOCUS

devote more time and energy to their beverages to customers.

By outsourcing delivery, restaurants can core mission—serving up great food and

DISCONNECT

If your restaurant uses a third-party platform, typically they, not you, own the customer data, and sometimes they sell that data or share it with competitors.

POTENTIAL COMMUNICATION CHALLENGES

Changes to your menu or hours of operation can be difficult to update on short notice when outsourcing to a third party.

Find best practices for working with third-party delivery providers and more on Saputo Foodservice's blog.

 Online Food Delivery, statista.com/outlook/374/109/online-food-delivery/united-states
"5 Benefits of Hiring a Third-Party Food Delivery Service," webstaurant- store.com/blog/1898/5-benefits-of-hiring-a-third-party-food-delivery-service.html
The NPD Group

4. "Delivery Test Drive: What You Should Know," yourbusiness.saputousafoodser- vice.com/posts/delivery-test-drive

5. "A Case for In-House Delivery," restaurantbusinessonline.com/technology/-case-house-delivery