About

Most supply chain and operations management professionals know SAPICS for the annual conference and exhibition. The Professional Body is, however, much more than this.

SAPICS, via its network of carefully selected education partners, offers exceptional training programmes, internationally recognised certifications and comprehensive resources. In addition to the world-class education on offer SAPICS provides the supply chain community with a year round calendar of professional development events as well as the impressive annual conference and exhibition which has become the leading event in Africa for supply chain professionals.

As a membership-based Professional Body, SAPICS aims to advance individuals and organisations in the supply chain profession, through participation in its educational programmes, conferences and events.
