CASE STUDY: CLIENT PORTAL

THE CHALLENGES

Our client, an information technology company, had begun offering devices as a service, or DaaS. They needed a portal for clients to manage the contracts, renewals, and requests for new equipment. Initially, the technologists designed the tool from the client requests, which often meant that no one talked about UI design. This led to miscommunications about the look and feel of the portal and work was often redone.

THE SOLUTION

In Time Tec brought a UI designer onto the client's team. This person was responsible for mocking up the design of the tool before the developers even began to code. They worked directly with both the client and the developers to ensure everyone was on the same page for the vision of the portal.

THE RESULTS :

ON BRAND:

The new portal was on brand for the client's other tools and marketing.

MORE TIME EFFICIENCY:

Saved both the client & developers' time by introducing a designer to mock up features before they were coded, instead of the client wanting changes after.

CREATED CLARITY:

All people involved knew exactly what to expect with the look and feel of the portal.
