

Vikar Technologies Wins Top Software Company Award at NJ Tech Council Venture Conference

Competition included more than 40 technology companies

OLD BRIDGE, N.J. (PRWEB) May 02, 2019 -- Vikar Technologies, a software provider focused on the needs of community and regional banks and wealth management firms, announced today that it has won the award for “Top Software Company” at the New Jersey Technology Council’s 2019 Venture Conference. The Venture Conference, which is held annually, is a showcase for the region’s most promising software companies. This year’s event offered early stage companies and start-ups an opportunity to provide their “investor pitch” to an expert panel of judges.

In addition to providing its investor pitch, Vikar also provided demonstrations of its component-based software for client lifecycle management (including account opening, KYC and periodic reviews) and lending lifecycle management (including onboarding, fulfillment, servicing and distressed loans).

“In addition to the strength of our software, I believe what made Vikar stand out in the competition was the clarity of our vision for both the company and our customers,” said Glenn Bolstad, CEO of Vikar. “We offer community and regional banks breakthrough software solutions that enable major leaps forward in their digital transformation. And we do that with a pricing model that minimize upfront investment, while still providing a low long-term total cost of ownership (TCO).”

“What I loved about the Venture Conference was the ability to get feedback in real time from a broad spectrum of experts,” added Adam Bieser, Vikar’s COO. “Throughout the day we were able to get insightful critiques from angel investors, entrepreneurs and even potential customers. The experience was invaluable.”

“It’s rewarding to see early stage companies like Vikar Technologies benefitting from what the NJ Tech Council has to offer,” said James Barrood, CEO of the NJ Tech Council. “The Venture Conference is one of the many opportunities we provide to the broader technology community in New Jersey.”
